

WHAT CAN ONE PERSON DO?

JOIN A MILLION VOICES FOR DARFUR

The Save Darfur Coalition is collecting one million postcards from individuals across the country. These postcards will be delivered to President Bush, demanding he take action on Darfur. One million voices loud, we will make it known to the President and to Congress that the American people care about the ongoing genocide in Darfur and that civilian protection must be a priority. We will not allow our elected leaders to stand idly by while innocent people die.

"If every member of the House and Senate had received 100 letters from people back home saying we have to do something about Rwanda, when the crisis was first developing, then I think the response would have been different."

Senator Paul Simon

CONTACT THE WHITE HOUSE

Shortly after taking office, President Bush wrote "not on my watch" in the margin of a report he was reading on the 1994 Rwandan genocide. However, a year after declaring the violence in Darfur genocide, the President has still not taken the actions necessary to end the violence. President Bush must hear from Americans who care about ending the crisis in Darfur.

Contact the White House and let President Bush know he must act now:

CALL CONGRESS

Congress has the power to help end the crisis in Darfur that has already cost hundreds of thousands of lives and displaced millions. It is up to us to make sure congress does not forget that Americans are holding them responsible to help the people of Darfur. You can contact your Senators and Representatives by calling the U.S. Capitol operator and asking to be transferred.
